Dear Ellie, OSS

Thank you for helping us learn and having fun at the Outdoor Science School. When the night came, I was kinda scared because I thought there would be a bear in the cabins looking for food! For night hike it was kinda scary at first, "then" you said ; we had to do a solo hike. In my head I was scared in my head, thinking about walking myself in the woods but I told myself to not be scared of the woods and man up.

While I was walking to the woods I saw two eyes staring at me. I wonder what kind of animal was it, but the animal was going back and forth. I thought the animal was playing a game with me. So I just crept going further up the road. Did you ever encounter another animal you wanted to see? Have you seen a black bear in the woods while you are walking? Have you ever had a goal that was impossible?

Did anybody see the animal that I saw from the night hike? Why do most of the animals go only at night at Blue sky meadow? On Thursday I was excited and bored in the morning, good thing I have sunblock for the hike in the afternoon.

Sincerely yours,

Isaac Martinez
